

Lonesource Expands Role at 2008 EFCG CFO Conference

CARY, NC – April 10, 2008 – Lonesource, a leader in providing spend management solutions that consolidate, standardize and simplify corporate spending, today announced that the company will be presenting at the 8th annual EFCG CFO Conference April 10-11 in New York City. Lonesource Founder and CEO, Bradley King, will give an executive presentation on the financial importance of adapting to change.

The EFCG Conference identifies and provides insights into the most significant issues facing CFOs in the engineering and consulting (e/c) industry. Held in April at the New York Yacht Club and Harvard Club, participation in this year's event expands Lonesource's growing presence within the e/c community and validates the company's experience working with leading companies in the sector.

"In today's business environment, change is constant. Our solution is helping engineering customers across the country stay focused on their core business," said King. "We look forward to exploring the economic impact of change with the group at EFCG."

Throughout the global business landscape, companies are recognizing the value of implementing spend management solutions to simplify operational spending. With engineering firms specifically, Lonesource offers the ideal solution to provide detailed, real-time visibility on organization spending, particularly at multiple, geographically dispersed offices.

Lonesource's engineering customers now stretch from Maine to Florida and from Puerto Rico to California including firms such as Parkhill, Smith & Cooper (PSC), Hull & Associates, NTD Architecture and CSA Group, which are headquartered in Texas, Ohio, California and Puerto Rico, respectively.
